PLATED GOLD

This frame features a refined gold-plated construction, composed of one micron of palladium and one micron of 18-carat gold.

The palladium layer provides enhanced stability and protection, ensuring long-lasting brilliance and durability of the gold finish.

DIAMANTATURA

Diamantatura is a traditional handcraft technique primarily used in jewelry, involving the use of specialized tools, often tipped with sharp diamonds, to create precise and detailed cuts in the material. We are now applying this meticulous method to eyewear design, enhancing the frames with intricate, sparkling details.

TINTED LENSES

Tinted lenses are designed to energize your look with bright, expressive tones, perfect for everyday wear or a simple style refresh. They also help reduce glare, soften harsh lighting, and enhance contrast, minimizing eye strain and improving visual comfort in bright or mixed lighting.

COLLABORATIONS

Open collaboration is the result of two or more parties working towards creating a product where none of the stakeholders compromises their own identity. If anything, what each of parts does is somehow potentiated. And the end result can only be positive.

VAVA collaborates with like-minded artists and designers who share a similar vision and purpose. Together, we delve into uncharted territories in an effort to create unique and innovative products, first-of-its-kind in the market.

VAVA X HARRI

HARRI and VAVA have teamed up to develop a capsule collection of eyewear inspired by Harri's passion for art and fashion. The collaboration with the fashion designer is born to highlight the link between avant-garde fashion and independent eyewear design.

Harri is an Indian-born designer, officially known as HARRI KS, Harikrishnan Keezhathil Surendran, who is based in London. He gained international recognition for his innovative and artistic designs, including the viral inflatable latex outfit worn by Sam Smith at the 2023 Brit Awards. His work is heavily influenced by his background, which includes a past as a competitive bodybuilder and a focus on traditional Indian crafts and materials.

VAVA X AKME

AKME and VAVA have teamed up to develop sportive frame inspired by the underground LA label.

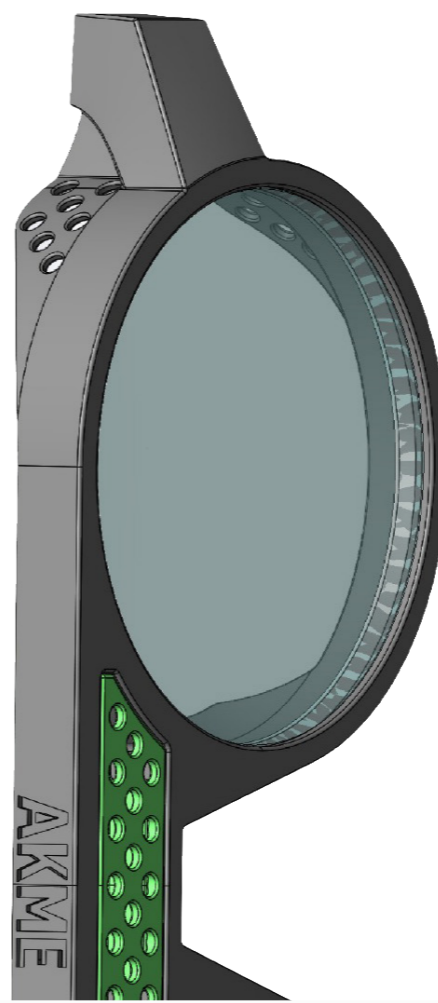

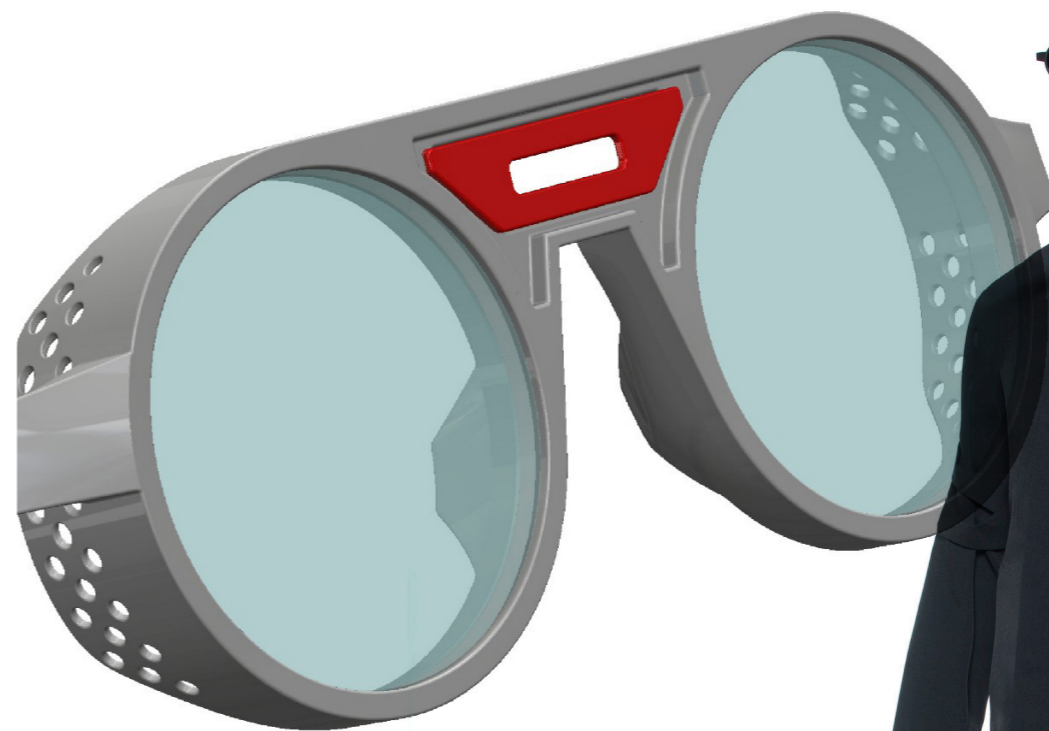

AKME is a la-based american luxury footwear brand that abandons the restrictions of commercialism and societal systems to embrace the singular nuance of each product and the story behind it. AKME is a brainchild of designer jesus and central saint martins fcp alumna riko.

AKME approaches its collections as an album, a body of work that aims to open up conversations and revel in the darkness of today, catalysing “a movement that moves towards fixing”. Merging the family histories of the founding duo, AKME proposes a roadmap of “survival tactics” in the war-ridden world of chaos heading towards imminent destruction.

TRANSFORMABILITY

A new color look for every day of the week. VAVA's modular eyewear allows the frame to be adjusted to the wearer's personal silhouette. A range of add-ons in seven different colours into shapes (fourteen combinations) allow full customisation.
